REPORT
OF THE
TOWN SCHOOL BOARD
AND OF THE
BOARD OF EDUCATION OF DISTRICT NO. 1

The Board of Education of District No. 1 respectfully present the following report for the year ending March 1, 1891 :

Our schools have enjoyed thirty-six weeks of schooling the past year, and three of the four have been under the instruction of teachers of whose able and successful work we have had previous experience.

The Primary grade, at the beginning of the year, was put under the care of Miss Annie L. Davis, a most earnest and faithful teacher, but at the end of her first term she left to continue her education at Wellesley.

Since then the school has been under the successful instruction of Miss Etta Colburn.

In the judgment of the Board the schools are all in a prosperous and healthful condition, intellectually and morally. The discipline is good and the instruction thorough.

The following statistics are given for comparison with previous years :

The free text-book law, designed to give equal opportunities to all children in the public schools of the state, has gone into operation in our schools without friction and without complaint, and bids fair to become a blessing to many who felt the cost of school books for their children to be a draft upon their narrow incomes which it was difficult for them to meet. The increased tax which this law throws upon the public is too small to be felt and tends to secure the great end for which the schools themselves were established. If the burden of this tax were to be much greater than it possibly can be, we are sure the patriotism of our citizens would gladly meet it for the good of the children and the welfare of the state, remembering that "there is that scattereth and yet increaseth; and there is that withholdeth more than is meet, but it tendeth to poverty."

At the last school meeting the district voted $20 with which to make the beginning of a library for the use of the school. The project for the establishment of such a library met with the hearty approval of the citizens, and to the books purchased many have been added by gift, and more have been promised. Nearly fifty volumes are now in the library, and that it promises to be of great service is shown by the fact that within a week after the books were placed in the school, all but one had been taken out by the scholars for reading. The privilege of having good books easily accessible cannot fail of a beneficial effect upon the scholars and the homes to which the books are taken.

The outlay which the district has incurred to improve the sanitary condition of our school building has proved a profitable expenditure, as it has added greatly to the healthfulness and comfort of all the rooms.

The play ground which the generosity of the district has given to the schools, has been materially improved the past year and seem to be fully appreciated by the scholars. This purchase, we are confident, was both wise and enlightened as it improves the health, discipline and intellectual success of the children.

The improvement which has been made in the character of our schools within the past few years, has obviously increased the intelligence, self-respect and general good conduct of the young people of our village, and this, to say nothing of higher moral results, has been more than an equivalent for all they have cost us in money and labor.

Absenteeism or irregular attendance is the most serious evil which the educational system of the state has to contend with. In many towns the practice is so general as seriously to interfere with the success of the schools. The indifference or insensibility of parents, which in this way wastes public funds, baffles the efforts of the friends of education, perpetuates the ignorance of the young and defeats the efficiency of the most far reaching function of the state, is a disease difficult to eradicate. We are glad to report that our schools are far above the average in regularity of attendance, and seem to be improving from year to year. This we must attribute to the faithfulness of teachers and the intelligent co-operation of parents, who fully appreciate the advantages of education.

S. W. COBB,

REPORT OF THE TOWN DISTRICT SCHOOL BOARD.

As we near the close of another school year and proceed to review the work done, we find that most of the schools have been quietly and steadily moving on, doing honest work; leaving a record upon mind and heart that time cannot obliterate, but will leave its influence upon the future of the town and state. The interest in school work has somewhat increased. With little exception, parents, teachers and scholars have worked harmoniously in a common cause, thereby securing better results. The few exceptions to this general prosperity constitute the principal source of annoyance and regret to the School Board. It was the purpose of the Board to give an equal amount of schooling to every scholar, as far as possible. Wherever there has been a deviation from this, it has been caused by local and unavoidable causes. The Board consider themselves fortunate in choice of teachers, retaining them, if possible, in the same school, if they were found to be doing acceptable work. All have seemed to labor faithfully for the advancement of their pupils. Irregular attendance and tardiness have proved detrimental to some of the schools. In some cases absence has been unavoidable, being caused by sickness. It is a noticeable fact that much the greater share of the tardiness is found to be with those scholars living near the school, while those living at a distance are, as a rule, both prompt and regular in attendance. Punctuality and regularity are necessary to make the school a success. All have been able to see something of the working of the free text-book law during the year. By this means a uniformity of text-books is secured, enabling the teacher to better class his pupils, thus awaking a greater interest and saving time by the lessening of the number of classes.

In view of the tax levied upon the town for these supplies, and upon School Board and teachers for the distribution and care of them, it seems advisable that a suitable place in each school room be provided, for securely keeping them during vacation, thus saving the labor and damage of transportation and securing the advantage of having them at hand when needed. Often, in the past, have we urged parents to co-operate with teachers in their work, still we find them sadly negligent. In no other case would they trust their entire business with strangers without thought or oversight of theirs, yet with their children, the most valuable of all their treasures, a majority, with almost indifference, trust the development of the intellect and training of the mind in the hand of strangers without apparently a thought of the result. Would these same parents, by their frequent presence in the school room, manifest their interest in the teacher's work and their children's advancement, then would they be better able to judge of the character of the school, give encouragement to the teacher, and stimulate the children to renewed efforts in their studies, that thereby they may merit the approval of their parents.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
